And morning comes with a meltdown, this town is needing a shakedown,
We've been burning bridges for hours: guided by higher powers.
And rising up from the edges this land is covered with faces
We've been praying for someone to lead us,
the end of those who deceive us.

Ooh if I was you I'd run for your life. [x2]

Her face is in every paper and may we never forget her...
A nation cries together, hoping to remember.
Look back at roads we have taken, as sleeping giants
awaken,
Wasting days till tomorrow we'll beg steal and borrow.

Ooh if I was you I'd run for your life. [x2]

It's not the time to stand in line if you wanna change
this.
They'll make the world you measure by if you let them
take you.
And hand you to the darker side where everything's
about you,
It's not the time to stand in line someone has to change
this.

Ooh if I was you I'd run for your life. [repeat until end]
