Cold this morning
Frosty windows
I can still see the moon
Slowly waking
Sleeping city
Lone in it's cocoon

You gently whisper
Half still sleeping
Darling, you should know

It's good having you here
It's good to be home

And all my heart's glowing
And I'm feeling so well
And our love keeps growing
More and more
Throughout the year
You make the cold disappear

Chance encounters over coffee
Makes me lose my breath
Playing foot seek under table
In a room of strange relatives

It's good having you here
It's good to be home

And all my heart's glowing
And I'm feeling so well
And our love keeps growing
More and more
Throughout the year
You make the cold disappear

I see the lights
Light up the sky
We'll drink cocoa
And watch the snow
Ooh oh

And all my heart's glowing
Alive feeling so well
And our love keeps growing
More and more
Throughout the year

And all my heart's glowing
And I'm feeling so well
And our love keeps growing
More and more
Throughout the year
You make the cold disappear
