lets pretend that this hip hop nation was an actual country with politicians, players, prostitutes and junkies everyones out here just trying to get their money which category do i get to fit in? see im not a politician even tho ive got the politics all i represent is my own personal policies ive got my opportunity to speak my peace and i leave it up to you to decide whos gonna follow me i know im not a player if i was id have a better position keeping those through advanced manipulation when in control i emulate all the things i do and say and i would have some real control over this nation and i dare anyone to call me prostitute cause i never cared about what they want me to do these are my songs and they come from my streets where the only thing getting laid are vocals and beats well, am i a junkie? maybe because the cultures in my veins and its making its way up to my brain ive been a user for my whole life cause i love the way the music takes away the strife and the pains so where do i stand and why do i sit and i wish i could cash in anyone can do it, there aint nothing to do if the hip hop nation was a country yo, the name of the city i lived in would be hungry i represent a city called hungry we got anyboy hungry in the house? is hungry in the house?
