(HOOK)

(x2)

look at your face

(slug) when all I could see was myself lookin? back at me

reflection

(slug) and all I could do was think about sleepin? next to you

(SLUG)

what would it take to make a woman like you view a wolf like me for what I really might be listenin? to lyrics, only here?s what I allow you gotta try to make me testify for here and right now let?s have a confrontation over a cold one

I?ll give you conversation just to see if you can hold ?

I play so dumb

because I know some of these star-struck small talk art fucks is no fun

I?m the blood type that goes straight for the guns

Like before you even smoke, already knew what your love?s like

So what you thinkin??

because I?m thinkin?

we should jump into your ocean

Let?s go girl, this ship is sinkin?

(x2)

look at your face

(slug) when all I could see was myself lookin? back at
me

reflection

(slug) and all I could do was think about sleepin? next
to you

now there?s no reason to lie, I?ve had a lot of lovers in my reality it?s impossible to avoid it but there?s one reason for life gotta provide some supper

gonna build a family just to watch ?em and destroy it do you really think you wanna get to know me better?

Don't you see the drama? Don't you feel the pressure?
Don't get me wrong, it would be my pleasure, To sing a song that could remove your shoes and your sweater
Bartender, let me get a shot a beam 'cause this grrrl over here is tryin' to get me out my jeans and she doesn't seem to believe I'm just another thief came to take a piece and make you studder when you breathe
now grrrl, you're too smart to be a tour mark set the play correct from the start with your pure heart and when you're all alone, I'll sing into your phone if you don't know the words you can make up your own the first time she met the devil was at first avenue went backstage with him into the dressing room sexy ego trip, taller than expected about six foot three, seemed to thrive on his misery critical, observant, big words sweaty hair, sunken eyes and thick curves she said, 'I'll make him smile for the simple fact that he needs it.

I'll make him smile just so I can kill it, and eat it.'

You look like you were built for me You talk like you wanna steal my drink You kiss like you already came And that's a lifter puller line for those without any game
It's like damn baby, you know you can't save me But you should still tell your people that you're leavin' with the band, maybe You could show me your house, so neither one us would be so lonely
If only you would come over here and hold me I caught you tryin' to hide your smile behind your glass But all your secrets become a swing set when you laugh
And all of your regrets that you're carryin' and buryin' Don't mean a damn thing if there's nobody to share them with
We been followin' each other all night now we oughta be all over each other like light now I don't like crowds, let's take flight now Cause that face that you make reminds me of my life now

(x6)
look at your face

(slug) when all I could see was myself lookin? back at
me
reflection
(slug) and all I could do was think about sleepin? next
to you

(ad infintum)
I?m only tryin? to find myself inside her
