A crack developed and a name blew in Billy gnosis, weak and thin
He moved to california to start a new life
Because back in his hometown he just killed his wife

Oh billy cant remember his name
Billy gnosis was going insane
And soaked in blue light he played and played
I can still hear the sound he made...

Billy burned his phone and blew up his car
He sat and watched tv and played the guitar
And read a book that made his head spin
How could he have known that there were worms within?
And the worms ate into his brain
Through his eyes and through his ears they came
They made a home so they could multiply
And feed on billys chemicals in paradise.
