hoarding turns allure to discontent altruism's a grind all its own morning makes you know your inner self but love is just as pure as you both because it's reciprocal, it's reciprocal

when true love is metaphysical venal desires we learn to beset you and me we've got a special thing but I want you to never forget
it's reciprocal, it's reciprocal

each bedtime I stir with regret guilty and vain, hoping for retribution charity's immune from my demands I don't expect a thing from the weak but you my love are measured and compared predisposed to my profane decree
it's reciprocal, it's reciprocal
it's reciprocal, it's reciprocal
