Theres a spectre in the corner of an illustrated page
And a lonesome muted stripling with a rapt remedial gaze

The poverty of his language and the wealth of his emotion

Bring him endless murky musings and unexpected frustration

Angst and madness weave the fabric of his life

Tomorrow might be better

But right now it feels like

#&%#@$#!&(*%%75838769%(%56(5965&65;$%423!(060_*7534#

Theres a panther wild and proud

Behind the doors of a redolent cage

And an undeveloped intellect

Filled with impotent and static rage

And dont think youre exempt

If you earn a good weekly wage cause your neighbors going crazy

And insanity's contagious!

I know theres so much you want to say

But your tongue gets in the way

And sometimes it feels like

I know theres so much you want to say

And the tumbrel of your mind gets in the way

Its the same for everybody to degrees

We all get that foggy freeze
