If I make you sick, baby that's not news to me anymore
I know I'm thick, and maybe when I'm walking out the door
I will know just like you know this may need to die before I finally get the chance to grow

And when I do, I'll be thinking only of you
And when I do, I'll be thinking only of you

If I make you cry baby there's no need to wonder how because I'm your guy and I've tried to make you proud but this aint right, I was built for flight when the darkness comes I will succumb to the night

And when I do, I'll be thinking only of you
And when I do, I'll be thinking only of you

So If I make you sick, baby that's not news to me anymore
I know I'm thick, and maybe when I'm walking out the
door
I will know just like you know
this may need to die before we get the chance to grow

And when I do, I'll be thinking of you
And when I do, I'll be thinking of you
