So we dug a garden
With our hands and mouths here
Rollin' in the dirt

We planted all those pieces of our hearts
And I dreamed they blossomed up
Shooting from the dirt
That's smothering then now

Well, all I ask
Darling, one more try
'Cause honey, all we hide
Those moves that we're not using

Well, I caught you killing
That lovely garden
And I'm choking on the dirt

And I'm cursing all those pieces of my heart
And I should know better by now
As the twilight kissed the dark

The road is calling
As far as I believe
I will end here
