So they took your love
And crushed it into dust
And I became your what if
But you stayed my never was

Oh no
This house used to be my home
And things keep getting weirder
It's not in my head no more
Why don't we just let this grow
If nothing lasts forever

I slip back inside
To the darkness and the tiny lights
Days get heavy empty when
You get
Filled up by the night

Bless your soul
These sticks used to be your bones
And things keep getting weirder
Wasn't in my head at all
Why don't we just let this grow
If nothing lasts forever

Pointing their fingers of fire
Turning the mirrors behind them all
Everyone's asking what's wrong
Nobody's asking what's right (they don't give a fuck when it's right)

Oh no
This house used to be my home
And things keep getting weirder
It's not in my head no more
We don't have to let this go
If nothing lasts forever x2
