Deep in the hollow of my heart
What am I waiting for something to start?
Some kind of fire to burn me up in a flame
I would really love to start all over again.
I would really love to start all over again.

I'm not asking for your sympathy
I'd never want you to worry for me
Isn't there someplace to put away
All the pain?

I would really love to start all over again
I would really love to start all over again

Follow me closer now under the stars
Into the water we'll light up the dark!
Let's be together and never say
We're afraid
I would really love to start all over again
I would really love to start all over again
