As silent as I have remained here
Words how they fail me, fail me so
Baby, I've been so tired for nothing
There still lies a song as lovers they light
Foreign streets that I roam alone

The taste of this absence, milk chocolate like
To these papers stark naked and ghostly ill white
There's mountains to say without feelin', feelin' a thing
A landscape of stories falls silent tonight

Just lay me down and miles away
We'll send each other till the mornin' light awakes the
day
No baby, don't, no, don't explain
'Cause I've been breathin' to believe in all that you say

The stars rule this night we waste under here
I'd follow forever if they guided me to you
The lovers shine brighter than diamonds
Here I still stand alone
Awake with the wonder and only these songs to hold

Just lay me down and miles away
We'll send each other till the mornin' light awakes the
No baby, don't, no, don't explain
'Cause I've been breathin' to believe in all that you say
