Hey, Lorraine, think of what you want no more
I got time to read up on the lies some more
Since I have you around me, I don't like children
I don't like people to come to my room
And I don't like silence, I don't like people
Who need their own lies to come between us

Hey, Lorraine, think of what you want no more
I've got time to read up on the lies some more
Since I have you around me, I don't like children
I don't like people to come to my room
And I don't like silence, I don't like people
Who need their own lies to come between us
