"Without You"

Every flower fades to grey
Children seem to lose their way
Happy faces turn to stone
When I crawl by
Love letters that we shared litter my floor
I can't take the grief any more
I've been ripped apart inside
Since you've been gone

And it's so hard feeling alive
It's a nightmare trying to survive
Without you, baby without you

Memories will follow me like shadows
And their beauty hurts so much more
I wake up and reach out you're not there
And I get tore up and I cry
My prayers all go unanswered
And my heart pounds like a drum
It's useless to deny it, you're the only one
And it's so hard feeling alive
It's a nightmare trying to survive
Without you, baby without you

Never been helpless baby, not like I feel today
Having you in my arms then
Watching you fade away, fade away

And it's so hard stayin' alive
It's a nightmare trying to survive
It's a picture I can't erase
It's a pain that I have to face
Without you, without you in my life
Without you...
