Elastic Baby

You took a little angel down with you

I look

See the boy

Inside you

Sometimes you think that no one cares for you

'Cause you don't

You're digging holes

And I can't find you

You go with the weather

From low to high

Keep changing spirits

By the turn of a season, or a satellite

My God, you're so sensitive

Wont you stay,

Please stay

Wont you stay

Elastic Baby

When you smell of ice and naked trees

And of me

When you wipe off the dirt

And the sun made you a T-shirt

When people say don't go too high

You might fall

You don't care at all

Then I start to think, this is

Way too good to be true -and that's true-

You go with the weather

From low to high

Keep changing spirits

By the turn of a season, or a satellite

My God, you're so sensitive

Wont you stay,

Please stay

Wont you stay

Elastic Baby

You took a little angel down with you

I look

See the boy

Inside you

Sometimes you think that no one cares for you

'Cause you don't

Don't go to deep
It might break you
