Rise gods of the fierous black burning skies
Raise hammers spears and swords high on your ride
Along the great legends born of fire and ice
Warriors on horses attack from the mountainous sides
Fires shall flame to the skies all battalions stride
Alliances stand line by line
Hordes of men armoured to die Fight warriors of norse while death glances in your eyes

Swing axes and blades unto the final ride
Attrition holds forces under the great fires

Now heathenous shall be the victors with swords forged by fire
A wacry shall echo the rise
Loud from the fierce mountainside
All set their lives on the line
To death which is for you all to sign
