"Sea Hare"

Run out to the sea,
Let the waves hide you and me,
Let the sun come out and cover us with love.

Beneath the teenage tide,
See the summer in her eyes,
Let the sea hare laughing slowly pass us by.

Underwater chorus,
Gathers right before us,
And slowly starts to sing a hymn of silence.

Watch you as you cry,
See the summer in her eyes,
Let the sea hare laughing slowly pass us by.

Change your ways before the tides takes you away,
Change your ways before you die.

Change your ways before my love, it fades away.
Before you turn into a lie.

Time is not our friend,
As the day walks to an end,
And the castle in the sand has lost its doors.

The darkness of the night,
Pulls your lover out of sight,
Let the sea hare laughing slowly pass us by.

Change your ways before the tides takes you away,
Change your ways before you die.

Change your ways before my love, it fades away.
Before you turn into a lie.

Whoa oh oh.
