This is not a dream
I am not asleep
This is not a game that I'm playing

Somewhere in between
What's real and how it seems
I find myself forgetting how to speak

But it's good to be alone
And it's good to see what I become
When you don't want me anymore

Everybody knows
How the story goes
Summer fades away and you're leaving

Welcome to the world
Of your former favorite girl
September comes and washes her away

And it's good to be alone
And it's good to see what i become
When you don't want me anymore
When you don't want me anymore

Love dies, everyone lies
You did your best and so did I
But everybody has to give up sometime

Young gods, alien gods
Star by star, we all must fall
Everybody has to burn out sometime

And it's good to be alone
And it's good to see what I become
When you don't want me anymore
When you don't want me anymore
And you don't want me
