Curious. I get so curious.
To think a star as bright as our own
can be a million miles away...

And I wonder who was here first?
And what will come next?
And who will be here after me?

Snow melts into water, and dust falls from the sky.
You've got your hands covered over my eyes,
but I just want to be alive.

And I wonder who was here first?
And what will come next?
And who will be here after me?

Snow melts into water, and dust falls from the sky.

I'll meet you in between my vibrating hums,
while you enter me like a drum.

And I wonder who was here first?
And what will come next?
And who will be here after me?

And I wonder | Curious.
Who was here first | I get so curious.
And I wonder | To think a star.
Who was here first | As bright as our own.
And what will come next | Can be a million miles away...

Who will be here after me?
Who was here first?
And what will come next?
And who will be here after me?
