

Elle Varner"So Sad"

Visit "So Sad" on MotoLyrics.com

I woke up from the dream of the good days I was in
I took you home and you slept next to me
In the morning I could smell the eggs you cooked for me
We were sure it'd last until we die

You asked me if I'd ever leave
I was meant to be next to you always
That was my reply
But something I have done has split us apart
And you are never coming back to me again

I'm dreaming of you and I still think you're mine
I'm waiting for you and I never give up
No matter who appears I won't forget
I wish you knew that I'm yours until I die

I woke up to the sound of the doorbells ringing
One thing I know is it won't be you
Something I have done has split us apart
And you will never come back to me again

I'm dreaming of you and I still think you're mine
I'm waiting for you and I never give up
No matter who appears I won't forget
I wish you knew that I'm yours until I die

Today I found the photograph of you and me
I'm so sad
Can I rewind all our time
And put it back to the place we were meant to be

Visit Elle Varner page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.