Staring at my feet, the world is on my shoulders
My life just skipped a beat back to the start, it's over
We are but a speck against the night sky
I got the feeling that I'm not alive
And I see you and I'm hypnotised

Nice to meet you, superficial is my name
Protect my innocence, I need someone to blame
We are but floating on a sea of our desire
I got the feeling that I'm not alone
So many voices in The Great Unknown

I got things I should say
I'm left alone, with these thoughts every day
I got things I should say
To you my girl, I know...I shouldn't stray

I'm breaking up inside, she knows she's got control

A million ways to go; each one will crush my soul
We are floating on a sea of our desire
I got the feeling that I'm not alone
But then I find you in The Great Unknown

I got things I should say
I'm left alone, with these thoughts every day
I got things I should say
To you my girl, I know...I shouldn't stray

I float away, down a river out of sight
The night sky
I float away, down a river out of sight
You and I

And if you think I'll let you down
If you wanna say it's not ok
If you wanna stand your ground
If you want to turn and run away
