this is everything i've ever seen, so i can't give up now cuz i know i am believing that i could fly threw without damaging human natures way of telling the limits threw the dangers in what i do for you. till you decide thats all you ever hide inside and never gonna go away, but every wave here shreds threw the liquid that i see out to the shores when i come back to far and attack the waves of friction giving me away see everything i do could be every word you say, for it is her mentally thinking of holding on or letting go because i am falling to fast to my goal. everything i thought in my head was going so good, i cannot let go but i can't hold on, i cannot give up everything i got to for you, till you decide.

everything i thought in my head was going so good, i cannot let go but i can't hold on, i cannot give up everything i got to do to deserve you, for everyone on to the shores don't see the weightlessness of me holding on to extreme fiction to shred threw everything i can't do today, ill do it anyday. for i can never decide to be let going, to see you, the words "i cared" i know is something pointless to the fill and "why i do right now", don't let go all doubts in your head, im falling fourth onto the floor for i do know i cant let go anymore, cant let go anymore, cant let go anymore ill do this anyway.
