I guess life didn't go as you planned

Gone is the sparkle you had

Loneliness is bitter cold

Chills your flesh and bones

It can steal what warmth

and love you're feeling

Don't lose your grip

Don't let it slip

I will be around

So please don't shut me out

Caught in our skin

We're all flawed within

The cracks we try to hide

is where the light shines through

The rift in your heart when it aches

Tears me apart as it breaks

Loneliness is bitter cold

Chills your flesh and bones

and love you're feeling

Don't lose your grip

Don't let it slip

I will be around

So please don't shut me out

Caught in our skin

We're all flawed within

is where the light shines through

You can melt that armoured shell you're wearing

Don't lose your grip

Don't let it slip

I will be around

So please don't shut me out

Caught in our skin

We're all flawed within

is where the light shines through

The cracks are where the light shines through
