The rain dropped down at 7:20 so suddenly wasted water harsh memories no matter how deeply buried survive, they emerge all my betrayed water runs between soles of her feet their average is torn Normandy
wait, wait, fulfill your destiny's secret try to find, try to find no fear till the end of crime that day in 1944
and a shipwreck water
Lou Ann lost her father Lou Ann and her daughter walks from the crosses for whom they've never known the caretaker wipes the marble face with wet sand to bring out the letters Sometimes the faces on the marble reflect only a picture of a dark haired man in spectacles wait, wait, fulfill our destiny's secrets
the day in 1944
and a shipwreck water
and a shipwreck water Lou Ann never knew her father father, father rain dropped down at 7:20 as we watched
Normandy
Lou Ann never knew her father, father
