Let me tell you about a friend
She contends she will always love me

It's this ability to lie and deceive
That has lost me completely

La la la la
La la la la

I could remind her of the facts
Make her calm down and relax but why bother

It's the shallowest defense
To my utter astonishment it is over

That little girl she wants to leave me
That little girl wants something more

I'm optimistically inclined
Given time she'll change her mind, it's unlikely

Let me tell you about a friend
She contends she will always love me

If you look at her sideways she will let you know
Today's the day the earth stole Heaven

If you look at her sideways she will curse you out
Today's the day the earth stole Heaven

If you look at her sideways
There can be no doubt, it's over
It's over
