I awoke and the sun had dropped on the day you walked
on the day you walked on out I set out to apologize

Well the weather was cold and dark I looked all around it was cold and dark but I made it home there was no one there just your letter stared from the table over there

Why did you leave me and go off into the dirty night the dirty night hurts all
And are you meeting with someone under the dirty night
the dirty night hurts all

I need to find your heart and take it back from him You need to keep it to yourself You need to break it into two and give one to me
