"Grow A Garden"

Scaling the wall for a loose stone
To let a little light in
And when the whole thing comes down
I'm gonna grow a garden

Violets and black-eyed susans,
Dahlias and chamomile
Impatiens and bleeding hearts
And anything that grows wild

Birds and bees
All of sudden they'll be everywhere
And the winds will tease
The worry out of our every care
How grand would that be
Won't you grow
Grow a little garden
Grow a garden with me
