

Midnight Reign "The Mourning After"

Visit "The Mourning After" on MotoLyrics.com

Standing on a ledge, and it rains endlessly
Funny how the rain looks like tears on my face
Staring at the moon, she used to be my friend
But even she can't stop me from falling down...

I thought I could live like this but the pain won't go away
And if there's a god forgive me if I choose not to pray...
Even though I'm on my knees anyway

Oh, can't you feel the memories...
Passing by and fading?
Can't you feel the ambiance...

Replace the life you hated?
Drift into oblivion... I'm drowning
Drift into oblivion...

Water fills my tomb, and I will embrace the night
A smile on my face as I drift away
But please don't cry for me...
You knew it had to be like this
You held the mirror up to me know there's nothing left to say

Pc
Chorus

Visit Midnight Reign page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.