in a ray of light
we will leave tonight another world waits for us on the other side

reaching out but still you feel alone clutching on to what you used to know you don't need that where we're going

when everybody here is glowing disappear into the light at the end of the hallway always bright remember we can always save the night we can always make things right we will leave this world and break the sky wide open with our light

don't slow down
no we can't slow down now don't carry that weight on your shoulder how do you feel now that you are older pretending not to notice what is pulling on your heart yeah

reaching out but still you feel alone

always bright

no we can't slow down how do you feel?

we don't need that where we're going we don't need that where we will be soon when everybody here is glowing

always bright
we can always make things right
and break the sky wide open with our light
