You were supposed to be my strength. You call yourself my "best friend,"?

So, how can you pretend that you did nothing wrong, when, obviously, you Did?

You were supposed to be down. No matter when, what, who, or how.

But, you threw that out the window, when you hit me with the low blow.

You coulda picked anybody in the whole wide world to love, but you chose Mine.

How could you chose mine, out of all the guys? (Yeah.)

You coulda picked anybody in the whole wide world to love, but you chose Mine.

Why would you chose mine?

You were supposed to be my aise, the matron on my wedding day.

I'm not supposed to never wanna see your face, ever again.

And, now, our kids will never get to play together, why?

Because, you messed it all up, forever.

You threw it all out the window, when you hit me with the low blow.

You coulda picked anybody in the whole wide world to love, but you chose Mine.

Why would you chose mine, out of all the guys?

You coulda picked anybody in the whole wide world to love, but you chose Mine.

Oh, how could you?

How can you sleep at night, knowing what you did wasn't right?

'Cause you killed two birds with one stone, friendship, and a happy home.

How can you both hang out, with your conscience eating away?

Gotta be eating away, at you. But, I can't feel sorry for you! You coulda

You coulda picked anybody in the whole wide world to love, but you chose Mine.

I can't believe you. (Oh! )

You coulda picked anybody in the whole wide world to love, but you chose Mine.

I gotta know, why did you chose?

I gotta know, how could you chose?
