

Ry Cuming "Heartbreak"

Visit "Heartbreak" on MotoLyrics.com

Caught in the moment hearing you laughter
Wanting your honest touch
But you're in the corner and I'm on the sideline
Waiting for time to rest

Do we really think these words could save this love
We're holding on to what we know
And I feel your kiss on my fingertips

Heartbreak is coming can't you see the signs,
I should be running
Heartbreak is honest we're barely holding on
I should be running

Could be a silence, a silence between us
Breaking us slowly apart
Come back and hold me, tell me you need me

Whisper it softly to my ear

Do we really think these words could save this love
I'm holding on to what I know
And I feel your kiss and I try to miss you

Heartbreak is coming can't you see the signs,
I should be running
Heartbreak is honest we're barely holding on
I should be running

Oh, your way across the ocean, oh
I hear your call, you calling me

Heartbreak is coming can't you see the signs,
I should be running
Heartbreak is honest we're barely holding on
I should be running

Visit Ry Cuming page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.