

Soulajar "Change"

Visit "Change" on MotoLyrics.com

My feet felt heavy, as heavy as my heart
I was lacking inspiration to even start
But then this evening, lying in my bed
I heard a whisper of hope ringing in my head

The thought is overwhelming
To think that things can change
And this voice that I was hearing was saying just that thing
Saying things can change, things can change

I feel just like a child seeing the sunshine
So excited to the day is starting
There's no more wasting time

I see there's so many things to do
So much love to give
So many broken-hearted people still learning how to live

But I know things can change
Oh, things can change
I believe, I believe, I believe that things can change
They have to change

The thought is overwhelming
To think that things can change
But this voice that I'm not using is saying just that thing
That things can change

Visit Soulajar page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.