

Soulajar "Outweigh The Bad"

Visit "Outweigh The Bad" on MotoLyrics.com

With your new job, you wake before me
Leavin' just before the sun is rising
There's no more morning coffee, or breakfast in bed
Just as you leave, I feel your lips on my head

That's how I know that this love will last
The good times outweigh the bad

It's crazy to think that six years have passed
With the patter of little feet, and our world moving by so fast
We could easily lose track of who each other are But somehow we always find each other in the dark

That's how I know that this love will last
The good times outweigh the bad

Baby you are all that I need
More than life itself, more than anything
And I know the odds are that this love will never last
But the reason we will make it: the good times
outweigh the bad

Baby you are all that I need
More than life itself, baby more than anything
And I know the odds are that this love will never last
But the reason we will make it: the good times
outweigh the bad

Visit Soulajar page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.