What's your mama's name, child?

What's your mama's name.

Thirty some odd years ago, a young man came to Memphis.

Asking 'bout a rose that used to blossom in his world.

People never too the time to mind the young man's questions,

Until one day they heard him ask a little green-eyed girl:

What's your mama's name, child?

What's your mama's name?

Does she ever talk about a place called New Orleans.

Has she ever mentioned a man named Buford Wilson?

What's your mama's name, child?

What's your mama's name?

Twenty some off years ago, a drunkard down in Memphis,

Lost a month of life in labour to the county jail.

Just because he asked a little green-eyed girl a question,

And offered her a nickel's worth of candy if she'd tell.

A year and some odd days ago, an old man died in Memphis.

Just another wayward soul, the county'd had to pay.

Inside the old man's ragged coat, they found a faded letter.

It said: "You have a daughter and her eyes are Wilson green."
