

Jeydon Wale "Just Another Love Story"

Visit "Just Another Love Story" on MotoLyrics.com

Deborah:

Don't forget me, don't forget my smile
You're the sun in the rain, you're the truth in a lie
And no matter what I do
I know you're never coming home
Because the pain is unbearable, you'd rather be alone
I took you for granted
And I didn't even know it
But now that you're gone every day begins to show it
And nothing makes a difference cause nothing's gonna change
Your mind is made up and that's the way it's gonna stay

Jeydon:

Everything's wrong and nothing seems right
But what about those other boys that you were with all night?
I forgave you each time cause I had a bit of faith
But that faith ran out slowly
Each and every day
With more broken promises and more heartbreaks
I mean, how much hurt do you think that I can take?
I must mean nothing if you do what you do
So why do you do it if you know that's not true?

Deborah:

Pause, Stop, Rewind.
Let's do a re-take
Now all I wanna do is reverse my mistakes
I think about your smile, I think about your eyes
I think about the truth caught up in all the lies
I swore more than twice and I gave you my word
But each and every time it's nothing you haven't heard
I never knew the truth, but now I'm reassured
That you're better off without me though it's not what I preferred

Both:

There's nothing we can do, now that we're done

Jeydon:

You keep thinking about all the things you did wrong

Deborah:

When you gave me all you had and I gave nothing in return

Both:

Now the candles are lit so it's time for them to burn

Jeydon:

You had every opportunity to prove I meant the world

Deborah:

But you went back on your word like I was just another girl

Jeydon:

You didn't think much of it cause you said you were sorry

Both:

But this is how it goes, it's just another tragic love story

Jeydon:

Can't forget, I can't forget your smile

Your the sun in the rain, you were the truth in the lies

But no matter what you do, you know I'm never coming home

Deborah:

Yea, because the pain is so unbearable you rather be alone

I took you for granted and I didn't even know it

But now that you're gone, everyday begins to show it

Jeydon:

But nothing makes a difference and nothing's gonna change

My mind is made up and that's the way it's gonna stay

Deborah:

Cheyeah, Jey Bling, you been working that

Jeydon:

Uh-huh, S-O-V. Uh-huh, you know it.

This is how it goes

Both: It's just another love story.

Visit Jeydon Wale page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.