I can't wait for the day that I wake up
And I feel like I don't need you
All you cause is pain, over and over
You screw up like you're drunk
When you're completely sober
You abuse me after you accuse me
Of something that I did not do
I can't take it, my body won't make it
My heart'll never heal if I keep lettin' you break it

But you're into me again
That'll be the last thing you do with that hand
How does that make you feel like a man?
When you're so much less than what you think you are
Or who I thought you were

You're weak
I'm way too strong of a woman for you to keep
Fool me with caress and try to rock me to sleep
But I'm just now wakin' up
My heart's been beatin' up
This ain't real love
[x2]

I can't explain all the pain that I'm feelin'
But I know that it don't feel good
It's like a wound that's barely infected
And the nerves around the heart's been severely damaged
Makeup on my face to cover up the place
Where you gave me that black and blue bruise
You hit me when you're wrong
You hit me when you're right

Then try to love with them same hands that night

But you're into me again
That'll be the last thing you do with that hand
How does that make you feel like a man?
When you're so much less than what you think you are
Or who I thought you were

You're weak
I'm way too strong of a woman for you to keep
Fool me with caress and try to rock me to sleep
But I'm just now wakin' up
My heart's been beatin' up
This ain't real love
[x2]

Only a fool will let you continue
Hurt me the way you did
I'm gonna heal, and I'm going to find real love
You will become the past
And I won't be looking back
Trust me, you can believe that
You took my kindness for a weakness
But I bet that right now you're speechless

You're weak
I'm way too strong of a woman for you to keep
Fool me with caress and try to rock me to sleep
But I'm just now wakin' up
My heart's been beatin' up
This ain't real love
[x4]
