I like to watch you as you walk by
Open your heart up and fly
So high you're touching the moon
I wish I could be there soon

With you, with you
With you, with you

I like to watch you while you're undressing
You always leave the curtains open
I've always assumed it was so I could see you
Open your heart and wish I could be

With you, with you
With you, with you

I like to watch you: laughing or crying
Planting your garden or going out partying
I am the one you see on the corner
Is that concern or do you wish I was

With you, with you
With you, with you
With you, with you
With you, with you
