he said that its ok
it wont happend again but little does she know Emotionally raped, the wounds Are wide open her heart is exposed for the world to see he loves the snow i know funny how it never seems to melt away so take my hand girl lets run away this is'nt how life is supposed to be we'll make him regret it i wont stop til your safe we will show him what he destroyed tonight we dress up in our sundays best honored devotees welcome to this fine evening tonights tinted in red of all scales she is lost out on the sea a captain of a sinking ship his uniform is always slick the smile remains a perfect inch like snow in december you'll soon discover that underneath it all there's nothing up for keeps

it's your's to find

tonight there will be blood you wont escape this time this party is for you tonight you will find out you will know how it feels to be the person you destroyed
