"The Shadows And The Light"

This pulsing sound
Too close to ignore
Reminds me of a dream
That can't exist
That won't exist

A distant voice
Deriving from the past
Tells me of those glorious days
When you had been more
Than just a myth

What is gone is calling me
It's coming back in waves
Still I see the shadows and the light
Merge in your face

Caught in a trap
Too tired to dream again
Affects me this siren's song
To go back and forth
As life evolves

What is gone is calling me
It's coming back in waves
Still I see the shadows and the light
Merge in your face

What is gone is calling me
It's coming back in waves
Still I see the shadows and the light
A perfect sight from far away

Still I see your shadows and your light
Reflections block my view inside
