"Six Black Eyes"

Everybody's wondering if I'm alright.
Because I haven't talked to no one in about 5 nights.
I'm just lying in my bed. With no words not being said.
None at all.

Somewhere by my high school, there's a flock of birds.
Singing and a chirping like we're so absurd.
I'm just lying on my bed. With no words not being said.
None at all.

Well I woke in the morning with 6 black eyes,
And got up in the evening and removed my tie (with tears I cried).
For that moment I was free (I was real),
For that moment I was me. (I could feel)
At last.

Now everybody's wondering now if I'm dead.
Cause I just can't seem to escape this lovely bed.
I'm just living in my head. Still no words not being said.
None at all.

(Chorus)

Somewhere on TV, there's a show I'd love.
I'd be laughing and a chatting like a ladybug.
But I'm happier right here, finally in the clear.
All right.
