I looked through towards the light,
The night held me clutched in tight,
I reached out but you got stuck again,
Your hands slipped out and I lost hope again.

When I fall back against the wall,
I am aching to change it all,
And I'm starving for a right,
Still I'm getting cold tonight.

Echoes from that night, always find,
I yelled your name beneath the water line,
I dived down and I got trapped again,
And I reached out but you got stuck again.

When I fall back against the wall,
I am aching to change it all,
And I'm starving for a right,
Still I'm getting cold tonight.

and I know that I can live,
oh I know that I can live,
oh I know that I can live,
yeah I know that I can live, oh I know that i can live, again.

I still search oh all the holes,
I cry your name to the wall,
I won't hear it coming back,
Cause I got out of the trap.
