Write another love song no
Write another lullaby no Write a song about the war and let the world know what it already knows

Tell them all what it feels like not to be with you anymore
i doubt they care
Sing a silly song for another no one
While they all do pretend that they do care about it

Write another love song no
For me and my own ego no State the truth through wisdom eyes and give them all a reason to proclaim that I'm to young

Tell them all what it feels like not to be with you
anymore
I doubt they care
Sing a silly song for another no one
While they all do pretend that they do care about it

They don't care about it don't care about it no

Tell them all what it feels like not to be with you anymore i doubt they care Sing a silly song for a special certain someone before I'm gone and i will Though i might be wrong
