Twilight by Mads Langer

Facing my reflection in the water of a public toilet
The subway is blessed with hatred against the system
I am chasing the infection that will cause another suicide
The damage that the system causes has no limits

I think you better watch out - cause it is coming after you
You better cry it out - it is coming after you

Twilight is reaching town
Above is heaven underneath the underground

We're haunted creatures in a world of cruel manipulation
The free will is tortured by the power of the system
And we're wanted for the making of a faceless population
You got to prepare yourself for war against the senseless vision

And you better watch out
You better cry it out - it is coming after you

You better watch out - it is coming for you
You better cry it out - it is coming for you
You better watch out - it is coming for you
You better cry it out - it is coming for you
