Just a short note
You'll find the key inside
There's no one home tonight
But come in anyway

The shallow sea
Calm, but not asleep
You're gonna wade into the deep
Tomorrow's years away

And now I know
Why darkness makes me smile
The night will have its child
And the wind will wind away
The wind will wind away

Until you're telling your friends we died
Laughing still
But the vessel that you fill
Will be your own

Wade into the deep
How much can you see,
Before we're all the same

Those words I wrote
I see my errors now
There's too much when and how
And you blow it anyway

The shallow sea
Calm, but not asleep
You're gonna wade into the deep
Tomorrow's years away
Every day, every day, every day

And now I know
Why darkness makes me smile
The night will have its child
And we'll all just blow away
Just watch us blow away

Until you're telling your friends we died
Laughing still
But the vessel that you fill
Will be your own

Wade into the deep
How much can you see
