i remember how i use to feel things just seem so sweet but it don't and its so hard to see i remember how it use to be, now its all just changed and im cold in the grave feels like i wont ever be the same, noohoh now im alone but i use to have it all
but now im slipping and im falling down they seem so close some how now there gone ohhhh see something just aint right , see a government collards for a way so that we waste life i bleed you bleed we bleed together getting lost up in the system that teaches us to be separate its easier to deal with us if were split up in sections as one were strong hold on never let up im fed up, living in this world where they tell us were nothing without money to show and to represent us but fk ya skin color cause were still brothers and sisters don't let them tell you any different, were so happy in this fiction but the reality is cold now were so hard to live in but this prison is killing everything within it but
now its gone so far away
