Say Please

I sat down by your side, held your hand and lied for awhile it's useless to run home, nothing better to be than alone
I'm talking about love, as if talking was ever enough it takes time. That's a lie.
I knew right from the start everytime

I'm restless, I'm talking the heart travel backwards and sticks to nothing, to control there is nothing your heart can control

say please, I love you there ain't nothing that I wouldn't do please, I love you there ain't nothing in it for you if it's work in its worth, then no begging will do any good they'll tell you to let go, when your hearing is stubborn and slow they'll tell you to be strong, when your days into nights drag along you're restless, you're talkin' your heart travels backwards and sticks to nothing to control

there is nothing your heart can control

say please, I love you
there ain't nothing that I wouldn't do
please, I love you can't have all my nightmares come true
