Hold the mirror I'm reflecting on my victim You could say I'm working out the difference of privacy You stole from me I'm taking it back so Hold your breath if you think I might release you or stand aside I'll never hand in the notice for my room I'm using the time to defy

A sick feeling paints the ceiling in the room that I must sleep in Should I really keep my hands to myself?

Sit tight reminiscing on my lost twin Homicide doesn't count when the one sin is rivalry Oh you made me Choose a present from the fortress that I live in and wrap it tight So when I hand you the gift of a lifetime it's goodbye forever and goodnight

A sick feeling paints the ceiling in the room that I must sleep in Should I really keep my hands to myself? You know what I mean when I scream Showdown you've stolen my crown I'll write the ending for myself.

I wanna say wonderful but you're someone else, You remind me of myself

Operate a hit a run, the witness said you fell I paid him, call before it's impossible to tell

Shake down my best friends are leaving I wanna bring you over cos you remind me, you remind me.

Shake down my best friends are leaving I wanna bring you over cos you remind me, you remind me.

Shake down my best friends are leaving I wanna bring you over cos you remind me, you remind me.

Shake down my best friends are leaving I wanna bring you over cos you remind me.

You know what I mean when I scream Showdown you've stolen my crown I'll write the ending for myself.

I wanna say wonderful but you're someone else, You remind me of myself Operate a hit a run, the witness said you fell I paid him, ooooh

I wanna say wonderful but you're someone else, You remind me of myself Operate a hit a run, the witness said you fell I paid him, call before it's impossible to tell.
