Does a cloud of ash have a silver lining?
You sleep sound at night and dream of rivers of gold While we get told that the Caps are melting, the sea is drowning the Earth,
The sun scorched the land away
My body's dying, it's been dying since birth

I never told you I loved you
Never thought that I had to
You lived your life like you chose to
I done my best not to hurt you
But I did

There's an open wound beneath the deep blue sea bed
The worlds bleeding its oil it can't be controlled Siphoned away and sold
The highest bidder, gets a slice of the pie
Then we'll burn it and put a hole in the sky
Tell me way

I never told you I loved you
Never thought that I had to
You lived your life like you chose to

I done my best not to hurt you
But I did

Like the fading sun your cold and I can't see without you
Like a lonely moon your distant but you light up my night
Like a desert storm you blew my life apart when I met
you
Then a tidal wave ripped it up and swept it away

Does a cloud of ash have a silver lining?
You sleep sound at night and and dream of rivers of gold

I never told you I loved you
Never thought that I had to
You lived your life like you chose to

I done my best not to hurt you
But I did

Like the fading sun your cold and I can't see without
you
Like a lonely moon your distant but you light up my
night
Like a desert storm you blew my life apart when I met
you
Then a tidal wave ripped it up and swept it away

Yeah... Yeah... Yeah... x3
