Sweet Beyond
In the end...I lay the flowers,
I lay the flowers down

I have bent my rules
That I have laid before me
Falling deeper still Than I ever thought I would and I would again

As we begin this journey,
Put your soul with mine
Connected from this moment throughout life and death and time

I would show you the deepness
If there was a sea forever
I would bring you the planets
If there was a way

In the End...
If your life I should fail to save...
I'll lay the flowers on your grave

As the years surround us,
This will stay beautiful
Through the change of appearance,
Love remains

I would show you the vastness
If there was a sky never-ending
I would give you the sunlight
If there was a way

In the End...
(I will be here)
If your life I should fail to save...
I'll lay the flowers on you grave

I have felt what I never conceived
From here through sweeter beyond

Impossible for words to bring you understanding
I will be the one you'll see

In the End ...
(I will be here)
If your life I should fail to save
In the End ...
(I will be here)
If before me you should leave this place
I'll lay the flowers on your grave
