I'm losing control again of this beast that I keep inside
I can't ever seem to win this fight

I wish I were anyone
But who I am right now
I guess I just thought I won somehow

But it's good to believe
There is hope enough for me
And I know that I can't see
That you have given me everything

These visions inside of me are making me go to sleep
But the hurt that I feel inside won't leave

I wish I could start again erase all the tings I've done
Maybe I could make myself someone

But it's good to believe
There is hope enough for me
And I know that I can't see
That you have given me everything

I'm sorry for what I've done
For the Pain I have put you through
I just want to be the one
To always be with you

I'm sorry for what I've done
I just want to be with you
